The Scoop on S.C.O.P.E.

By Jean Perry

The 7th-graders at Old Rochester Regional Junior High School present for the final full week of school from June 18-22 took place in another of the school's 40+ years tradition – S.C.O.P.E week – Student Centered Opportunity for Personal Enhancement, giving students a chance to learn while learning about themselves and each other.

Kathy Gauvin, a teacher at ORR Junior High, said S.C.O.P.E. week is a collaborative effort between the teachers of the blue and red teams at the school and has a different event or outing planned for each day of the week.

"The week is just so nice because it's a time when the classroom is outside in a different structure so it's so much more relaxed for the kids," said Gauvin. "It's an opportunity to do things with your classmates that you might not necessarily get to do – outside the classroom."

One day it's a cruise in Newport, Rhode Island, another it's a day of roller-skating, and another day, which was Wednesday, June 22 this year, was one of teamwork that culminated along the shore of the Mattapoisett YMCA, where it is, one could say, a survival of the floatest.

For seven years now, students have worked together in teams of four designing and constructing cardboard boats using nothing but duct tape to hold them together.

"It's a design challenge for them I guess you could say," said Gauvin. "It's something they do on their own and then they work outside of the classroom and bring it in."

As tradition dictates, the teams arrive on the beach at the Mattapoisett YMCA to see which ones float and which ones are the fastest to the finish line.

They have plenty of time to make their boats – months, in fact. But, as Gauvin pointed out, not all of them use the full months-long planning process. Some get started the day before the race, she noted.

"Depending upon how much work they put into it, you can have a boat that lasts forever, or one that doesn't get past the dock," she said. "I've had some boats [in the past] that were incredible."

The teams decide which two of the four members will actually test out the boats on the day of the race, and

Students design and build their boats and hope they float long enough to cross the finish line. Rochester's New Wheelchair Offers Beach Access

By Jean Perry

When you see the Town of Rochester's new big-wheel wheelchair, it's rather obvious where it is meant to take someone with mobility challenges. With its bright blue and white striped chair, and big, bright yellow inflatable tires and armrests that make the chair look like it could float on water, you know immediately where that chair belongs – at the beach.

After weeks of Americans with Disabilities Act (ADA) compliant alterations to the Town's facilities and buildings, which included widened automatic doors, restrooms, and paved walkways, the town has also acquired a handicap beach wheelchair that is ready for Rochester residents to borrow for trips to the beach.

For those with disabilities and the elderly who find walking difficult, traversing a beach in a conventional wheelchair is impossible without a paved walkway or wooden boardwalk. But with this new three-wheeler beach chair and the assistance of a friend, a person who was once prevented from enjoying a day at the beach can now share in the experience.

Andrew Daniel, Rochester's facilities manager, said the Town had some money left over from a state grant he helped secure for much needed ADA compliant upgrades to provide handicap access to town buildings. During the ADA compliance planning process, Daniel consulted with a Rochester resident who relies on a wheelchair to get around in his busy life as a college professor.

"He was telling me how some other coastal towns have special ramps or mats to get across the beach, or special chairs to get across the sand," said Daniel on Friday, June 22, outside the Rochester Council on Aging where the new chair sat fully assembled on the lawn. "He told me when he takes his kids to the beach he sits in his car and just watches them from the car."

Recalling that conversation, Daniel said, "It hurt me a little bit hearing that."

When Daniel found a couple thousand in grant money left over from the other ADA projects, he looked into how much it would cost to provide Rochester residents, who have access rights to Silvershell Beach in Marion, some way to enjoy the beach. Daniel found a company in Florida that sells the "Water Wheels" beach wheelchairs and, with the remaining grant money, bought

"[Residents] can take it to the beach and bring it back," said Daniel. All he needs is a one-day notice ahead of time, and he can have the chair ready to be picked up at the COA. A waiver is in the works for residents to sign upon checking out the chair at no cost. "They can enjoy the beach and that's pretty much the goal," said Daniel.

The beach wheelchair isn't limited to just Silvershell Beach, either. The chair can be used at ponds, too. The big wheels can plow through sand with ease, and the chair can be brought right into the water with the assistance of another bather. The chair folds up easily, and the wheels and armrests can be removed to fit the entire chair into the trunk or backseat of a vehicle. Reassembly is just as easy, mentioned Daniel.

"Hopefully it's a benefit to the residents," Daniel said. "Anybody can take it."

At this time the chair is only available to Rochester residents, but Daniel said he has told the Marion Recreation Department about the chair, and offering the chair for loan to Marion residents could soon follow.

"It seems only fair that we would let the Marion elderly and disabled use it, too," said Daniel.

Rochester residents who wish to borrow the chair can call the Rochester COA at 508-763-8723 and make arrangements for pickup.

Daniel hopes the word will get out and residents will begin to use the chair now that it's here – and, finally, so is summer.

"I'm pretty excited about it," said Daniel. "I'm excited to see how it'll work out."

The Intricate Art of Scrimshaw

By Caleb Jagoda

If one had asked me - a young college student not particularly knowledgeable in nautical history - what scrimshaw was before the Sippican Historical Society presentation at the Marion Music Hall on June 21, I would have chuckled, and a bit dumbfounded, guessed, does it have something to do with the grim reaper, or is it perhaps some eerie implement used in decapitation?

Upon entering the Marion Music Hall Thursday night, I gazed upon the Claflin scrimshaw collection, heard the talk of whaling, and put all the pieces together. This wasn't a fireside ghost story retelling, but rather a celebration of 'Old Rochester's' roots to Tri-Town's traditions, art, and folklore.

Frank McNamee, president of the Sippican Historical Society, began his lecture by giving a brief overview of the history of whaling in Marion and the surrounding area. He soon eased into the art of scrimshaw, dishing out fun facts including how often many scrimshaw artists remained anonymous in their day and age and that scrimshaw art was primarily created between the 1830s and 1850s.

He also spoke of the day the historical society first came across William Claflin's scrimshaw collection, which turned out to be a very fun adventure for those involved. He retold the tale with enthusiasm, explaining how, a year and a half ago, the historical society's museum curator Pete Smith asked McNamee if he knew of a William Claflin on Delano Road who had in his possession a very fine collection of scrimshaw.

He went on to describe how Claflin wanted to donate his father's scrimshaw collection to the Sippican Historical Society on three conditions: the scrimshaw was to be displayed in his father's 19th century cabinet, the scrimshaw was not to be sold under any conditions, and there was to be a bronze plate installed in his father's name. At first, McNamee confided that he was very skeptical, but nonetheless agreed to go check out the collection.

When McNamee entered the Claflin house on Delano Road, he was blown away. In the 19th century cabinet lay over 100 pieces of scrimshaw, including intricate whale teeth art, meticulously designed pie crimpers, baleen corset stays, and much, much more. Of course, upon viewing the stunning collection, the two men from the historical society hastily agreed to Claflin's conditions to honor Claflin, Sr. After all, even though the scrimshaw would never be sold, Claflin, Sr. purchased pieces that are now worth over thousands of dollars for only "eight, ten, and twenty dollars," in the 1930s and 1940s, said McNamee.

McNamee then proceeded to show some pictures from the collection and explain their history and importance. Many of the whale teeth are around six to eight inches long and hold quite extravagant images. These images include a magnificent variation, ranging from nautical whaling scenes to breathtaking portraits of women to serene nature scenes.

With so many pieces of scrimshaw art, the Claflin collection is quite the historical smorgasbord. Some of the more valuable and impressive pieces even contain detailed images of towns, elaborate drawings of women in elegant dresses, and polychrome decorations, including scenes of Native Americans on horseback, and Napoleon and the French Army crossing the Swiss Alps. McNamee explained that many of the images were copied by sailors from newspapers and books they would read while on their whaling ships.

McNamee went on to show pictures of the more ornate utilitarian scrimshaw pieces, which included pie crimpers, clothespins, baleen corset busks, and even a tool the whalers used for scooping water or rum.

All-in-all, the Claflin scrimshaw collection turned out to be quite the treasure for the Sippican Historical Society. Moving forward, they look to honor the late collector, William Claflin, Sr., by displaying the collection for locals to come and admire and maybe even learn a little bit about their hometown history.

So, while I wasn't completely wrong in my first impression that scrimshaw may hold and display an eerily ghost-like past, I now know just how historically relevant and truly interesting scrimshaw is to the southeastern coast of Massachusetts.

MOSAC Releases 2017 Survey Results

By Jean Perry

Results of the open space and recreation survey conducted by the Marion Open Space Acquisition Commission have been released, and the results clearly show that Marion residents love to walk. In fact, 143 of the 169 residents who filled out the survey between the fall of 2017 and the winter of 2018 shared that they would like to see more places to do so, as well as more permanently preserved open space – and that they are willing to pay for it.

"Marion folks walk, a lot," said MOSAC Chairman John Rockwell in a follow-up email with The Wanderer. "They want places to walk without getting run over – that's bike paths, sidewalks, and trails. They also see the harbor as a huge open space asset and are concerned about the water quality in the harbor."

According to the survey results, those who want more open space acquisitions outnumber those who don't by a significant margin: 8-1. And those willing to pay for it outnumber those who don't by 7-1.

The 25-question survey was sent to 369 residents selected randomly from the registered voters list through a process explained in the introduction to the results report. Of those 369 surveys, 169, or 46 percent, were returned.

A summary of the survey results shows that residents believe open space should be a requirement of all subdivision plans, and at least 25 percent of Community Preservation Act funds should go towards open space. And as for Marion's marine resources, residents think the biggest threat is pollution from runoff.

The results list the top five responses from multiple choice questions. For outdoors activities families enjoy most, walking ranked number 1 followed by (in descending order) "enjoying the view," swimming, sunbathing, and biking. But when it came to which of those activities residents and their families actually do most often, walking ranked first, followed by swimming, golfing, biking, and walking in the woods.

But what does Marion need more of in town? Respondents say they want more: 1. Bike paths; 2. Sidewalks; 3. Permanently protected open space; 4. Wildlife habitat; and 5. "quiet seashore." But the questions also asked residents what they would like to see less of, or the same amount of around town. Eleven want fewer golf courses, nine want fewer boat moorings, and a handful of others want fewer boat ramps, tennis courts, and other sports facilities such as basketball courts and baseball fields. And, in ranking order, residents prefer to keep the same amount of golf courses, schoolyard playgrounds, ball fields, general playgrounds, and boat ramps.

Other questions asked which of the existing amenities need upgrading or repair in various areas of Marion. Town-to-town bike paths were given top priority for expansion, followed by sidewalks and the senior center.

paths topped the list, followed by the senior center and, again, sidewalk expansion.

One hundred and nineteen residents say they are "satisfied" with the current recreation offerings in Marion.

When asked what they deem most important in recreation/open space, respondents said harbor water quality was most important, followed by water/beach access, quiet seashore, and preservation of wooded areas.

Some questions pertaining to zoning and development show residents are into allowing so-call "cluster zoning" for housing while favoring a more robust open space requirement for such developments.

Some 130 out of the 169 residents who returned their surveys either strongly agree or agree that the Town should set aside funding to identify and preserve environmentally sensitive areas in Marion. Only one of them "strongly" disagreed.

"Since my involvement with open space issues, I have noticed a disconnect with the wishes of the Marion voters as expressed in the surveys and the actions by the decision makers in Town House," Rockwell said.

In more essay-style open response question asking residents to rank the top three most important issues facing Marion, planning received the most comments, 66, which ranged from development size, volume, to controlling growth while making commercial development easier. One responded, saying, "Too few people think long term and about the overall well being of the Town. Individuals are focused on their own agendas, not for what is good for all, whether it is open space, affordable housing, commercial development or other issues. We are good at planning and lousy at holding planners accountable. Master Plans mean nothing unless there is a way of measuring progress."

Transportation received the second highest number of responses that had sidewalks mentioned most often, followed by road maintenance and the bike path, with many mentions of traffic.

Coming in third for most comments was the environment, with most remarks pertaining to water pollution, pollution in general, and water quality. It is clear, however, that residents are concerned about open space and preservation, and view wastewater treatment as one of the top five issues affecting the town, with taxes/finance and affordability ranking sixth.

MOSAC will use the results when considering future land purchases and also to provide direction while developing a new Open Space and Recreation Plan. The commission conducted surveys with similar questions back in 1994, 2004, and 2012, so the 2017 report also includes information from the 1994, 2004, and 2012 survey for context.

"I've been involved with the Open Space and Recreation Surveys since 1994," said Rockwell. "We did a survey that year, and in 2004 and 2011, and I am gratified by the response we get each time. It's important to the Open Space Acquisition Commission that we hear from a cross section of Marion residents - as opposed to our day-to-day contact with our friends. We base our decisions on the results of these surveys, so the results are so important to us."

Marion's Temp DPW Superintendent Resigns Early

By Jean Perry

The acting superintendent of the Marion Department of Public Works, Jon Henry, submitted a letter of resignation from the temporary position on Friday, June 22, although Henry's letter did not provide a reason behind the resignation.

Henry was appointed on February 6 to take control of the DPW after the somewhat sudden retirement of former superintendent Rob Zora back in December, and was contracted to maintain the position until roughly around August, by which time the town administrator and the Board of Selectmen had expected a DPW operations efficiency study to be complete.

The study is expected to provide the board guidance on DPW operations, including whether to keep the DPW as is with one superintendent, and even possibly split the Water and Sewer Departments into two departments for more efficiency.

Henry was a selectman until 2016, and still currently holds some positions on various appointed committees.

Details surrounding the resignation are unclear, however the Board of Selectmen has amended the agenda of its Wednesday, June 27, special meeting to include the DPW superintendent position as a topic for discussion. The meeting was initially posted as an executive session strictly to discuss the Buzzards Bay Coalition lawsuit.

"Jon did submit a resignation letter on Friday," said Board of Selectmen Chairman Norm Hills in a follow-up on Monday. "However, the situation is far from clear if it is for real or if there is some understanding to be reached. At this point, there is no clear resolution and it is literally a work in progress."

Henry's letter stated that his resignation would be "effective immediately".

During the last selectmen's meeting on June 19, Henry was present and asked the board to consider reallocating some unspent funds from the DPW fiscal year 2018 budget before the close of the fiscal year on June 30. Henry asked if the selectmen would consider holding a special meeting to address the reallocation, but the board subsequently scheduled a special meeting only listing the Buzzards Bay Coalition lawsuit on the agenda.

Henry did not respond to The Wanderer's request for a phone call by press time on Tuesday.

This story will be updated on Wednesday after the special meeting of the Board of Selectmen and posted online, as the meeting will take place after press time.

Rochester Planning Board

By Jean Perry

As the Board of Selectmen prepares to make Rochester a "Green Community", so must the Rochester Planning Board, Chairman Arnie Johnson announced on June 26, introducing the two criteria of the five mandated by the Green Communities Act that the Planning Board must assist with implementing.

First, Johnson explained, the board must designate zoning that would accommodate a "by-right" solar zone where a developer could expect to develop a solar energy project with less stringent regulations than those in the Town's Solar Bylaw.

"They would accept, like, the town dump," said Johnson, naming one specific area that could be designated by-right for solar. "We would specify the area."

"Then, when we create that piece of legislation, we would create the criteria that goes along with it, and that would be for by-right solar," Johnson said. "Or you can designate it for research and development into alternative energies."

In response to board member Ben Bailey's question on how townspeople would feel about their neighborhoods being designated as by-right solar districts, Johnson replied, "That's why we were thinking the town dump."

Johnson specified that it could be an overlay to an existing industrial zone.

"It has to be like a real [zone]," Johnson said. "It can't be like an illusion – some swamp land … up in the industrial area," Johnson said.

The second criterion the Planning Board must address is a "Stretch Building Code", which pertains to stricter energy efficiency standards for new residential construction. Johnson specified that it would regulate new homes only, not renovations or additions to existing homes.

The stretch code would be close to the existing state requirements in energy efficient heating and cooling systems and insulation, only slightly more stringent, Johnson added.

In exchange for being deemed a Green Community, Rochester would receive grant funding to help Rochester save money by being more energy efficient.

Town Meeting would have to adopt the stretch code before it would be adopted.

In other matters, REpurpose Properties, applicants for an age-restricted residential development on Rounseville Road next to Plumb Corner, again requested a continuance, which prompted Planning Board member Gary Florindo to comment on projects that repeatedly request continuances.

"We've been through this a number of times with other projects when they keep bumping it down and bumping it down the road," said Florindo. "We had this problem with another project in town and they kept bumping it down … and it came back to us as if we were the bad guys."

Florindo said it has happened three times now, and he just wanted to make that clear, he added.

Johnson said the continuation was just as well, since no testimony had yet been taken and several members of the board were absent that night.

That hearing was continued until July 10.

Also during the meeting, the board approved the application for an Approval Not Required filed by Roger and Laura Pelletier, trustees of the Pelletier Family Realty Trust, along with Bradford and Ruth Correia for lots located on Featherbed Lane. Engineer David Davignon referred to the application as a "land swapping" and … "to balance out the land better."

The land is a large tract owned by the Correias, with several "fingerlike projections" (lots) that will be conveyed to the Pelletiers, with one of the seven lots to be conveyed to the Rochester Land Trust.

"Very unusual shapes," said Bailey about the lots. "No objections - just, why?"

Davignon said that was how the lots "perced," referring to the percolation tests required for septic system development for new residential construction.

The ANR application was accepted.

The next meeting of the Rochester Planning Board is scheduled for July 10 at 7:00 pm at the Rochester Town Hall.

Applicability filed by Kenneth Yokel for property located at 94 Fairhaven Road. After handing over a thick stack of abutter notifications, affectionately referred to as "green cards" by the commission, the applicant's request for permission to pave an existing gravel driveway received a Negative Determination (no Notice of Intent required). The Yokels had previously sought and received guidance from the commission on best practices during the paving phase in harmony with the Wetlands Protection Act.

Dan Bungert filed a Notice of Intent application for property located off River Bend Lane. Carmelo Nicolosi of Charon Associates, Inc., represented Bungert as he discussed the construction of a single-family home with driveway planned for construction. Nicolosi shared that a percolation test had been completed in 2009, that erosion controls were planned during the construction, and Conservation Agent Elizabeth Leidhold had confirmed the wetland flagging. One small blip in the hearing surfaced when it was learned that the Massachusetts Natural Heritage and Endangered Species Program office had not yet responded to a request for their input on construction impact to wildlife in the area. The hearing was continued until July 9 awaiting their response.

Jon Connell of Field Engineering representing Manuel Palomo, 117 Mattapoisett Neck Road, came before the commission with a Notice of Intent filing for the construction of a garage. Palomo received permission with the issuance of standard conditions.

A Request For Determination of Applicability filed for Susan Fine, 20 Silver Shell Avenue, for the installation of a concrete block patio space received a Negative Determination.

And last item on the easy-breezy agenda was a Request for Determination of Applicability filed by Peter and Ellen Fitzpatrick, 21 Shore View Avenue, to increase the footprint of an existing pilings by four inches to accommodate a small structural change to the home received a Negative 3 Determination.

Neighbors have opposed allowing construction in summer; a time that they say they want to enjoy their yards without noise and dust. But Blue Wave was adamant that they would mitigate those issues, and on June 21, the ZBA approved Blue Wave's request.

The board also approved Blue Wave's minor changes to its original plan – shifting the arrays a few feet away from the abutting property line and additional stormwater management measures – while allowing for the start of construction to begin in July – 20 days after the decision to allow for an appeal period.

The hours of operation were limited to 8:30 am - 4:00 pm Monday through Friday, with no weekend work permitted.

Blue Wave representatives said an earlier start was necessary in order to "stabilize" the work site, given that hydro-seeding would have been done too late in the season if the former construction schedule was followed.

The former start date of construction was set for Labor Day.

The Phase 2 solar farm site is 87 acres in size, and has been a matter of contention for abutters since the amendment to the Order of Conditions was requested to allow for an earlier start for construction.

In order to mitigate residents' concerns, the Blue Wave representative specified that only an average of 3.4 additional trucks would visit the site each day during the 12-week construction period, and Blue Wave would order police details during those times to bolster safety and alleviate concerns.

In addition, Blue Wave would have the site watered-down if dry conditions persisted to keep dust from interfering with any neighboring properties.

The next meeting of the Mattapoisett Zoning Board of Appeals is scheduled for July 19 at 6:00 pm at the Mattapoisett Town Hall.

Towns Unprepared for Preparedness, Says Marion

Marion Board of Health

By Marilou Newell

On June 26, the Marion Board of Health discussed a recent conference attended by Health Agent Karen Walega and Public Health Nurse Kathleen Downey.

The conference, sponsored by the Plymouth County Public Health Emergency Preparedness Coalition, brought together communities throughout the county to discuss processes and procedures in times of emergencies that might impact entire areas.

Walega said her main take away for the Tri-Town area encompassing Marion, Mattapoisett, and Rochester was, "We are not all on the same page."

When asked by Board of Health members Betsy

Dunn and Dr. Jason Reynolds what she meant, she wasn't able to clearly articulate the point. But Downey did.

Downey said that, while Marion had representation at the preparedness meeting from decision makers in the Town -- Selectman Norm Hills, Walega, and herself --, Rochester and Mattapoisett's representation wasn't equal to the task. She said the director of the Mattapoisett Council on Aging, Jackie Coucci, and Mattapoisett's assistant Board of Health agent, Kate Tapper -- people she felt do not hold decision-making roles when it came to regional disaster preparedness -- had been sent to attend the preparedness meeting.

Downey said of the three towns, "We need to work together."

"I need your help," Downey implored Dunn and Reynolds. "We need an agreement between the three towns," she said, referencing a Tri-Town coalition; a necessity, she added, in demonstrating to the state that Marion, Rochester, and Mattapoisett were working together, thus positioning them for regional benefits otherwise not available.

In response to Downey's request for assistance in this matter, Reynolds said the Board of Health would have further discussion with Hills and potentially attend the next Tri-Town Selectmen's meeting to explore this topic further.

Also during the meeting, flavored tobacco products were briefly discussed as Walega shared bylaw document edits she had gleaned from the Town of Avon for inclusion into Marion's draft document.

Present from the Coalition for Responsible Retailors was Dennis Lane who asked where the town stood on menthol cigarettes. Reynolds responded that menthol-flavored tobacco would be excluded from flavored tobacco and nicotine restriction regulations for the time being. He was advised that the issue of tobacco products might be raised at the August 28 or September 22 meetings.

In her report, Downey said that she had received requests for immunizations for shingles, but that the town does not stock the vaccine. She said she would seek grant options for the community.

On the subject of suicide support groups, Downey said that both Plymouth and Bristol Counties had approached her regarding setting up support groups. She confessed to not feeling qualified to handle such groups and believed it necessary that someone trained in the discipline take on that role.

"I have no clear roadmap on suicide," she said while asking for guidance.

This discussion melded into a larger conversation Downey had recently had with the Southcoast Hospital Group to, which the town had sought a $10,000 a grant for the education of elementary teachers on the issue, but only received $2,500.

The next meeting of the Marion Board of Health is scheduled for July 10 at 4:30 pm in the Marion Town House meeting room.

Drama Holds Banquet, Names 2018-2019 Shows

ORR Update

By Grace Mastroianni

On June 24, the ORR Drama Club held their end of the year banquet outside for the very first time. Normally, the banquet is held at the school's auditorium, but due to some unforeseen circumstances, the event was held at the house of Lisa Cardoza. Cardoza is president of Friends of Old Rochester Drama, more commonly known as F.O.R.D.

Students performed their Cabaret acts, as that event had also been canceled due to unforeseen circumstances. Julia Melloni gave a lovely performance of "Party Favor" on her ukulele, followed by Olivia Guillotte happily singing "Walking at Midnight". Seniors Jack Roussell, Alice Bednarczyk, Bella Rodriguez, Ethan Mort, and Noah Paknis performed "Yellow Submarine", with Roussell on guitar, bringing the entire club into a sing-along for the chorus.

Due to technical difficulties, Melloni gave an impromptu comedy act while waiting for performer Grace Stevens. Stevens, singing "Cabaret", reminded the club she had sung in every Cabaret since freshman year and wanted to sing "Cabaret" from the musical Cabaret at Cabaret her senior year. Juniors Michaela Mattson and Victoria Kvilhaug sang a duet of "Little Talks" with Kvilhaug on guitar.

After the wonderful Cabaret acts, club representatives Katie Maclean (co-president), Lauren Gonslalves (vice-president), and Julia Melloni (treasurer) gave out the Senior Superlatives, which every senior received. The awards were for attributes like Biggest Appetite, Most Talkative, Highest Voice, etc.

Posters were handed out, and director Paul Sardinha congratulated all of the seniors who won F.O.R.D. and other drama-related scholarships.

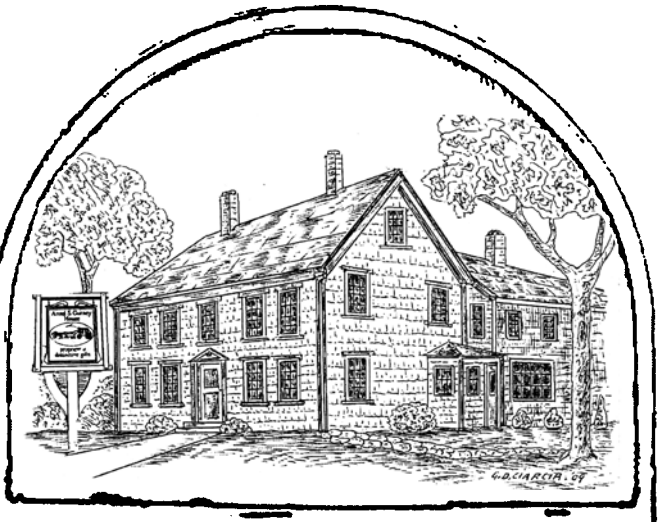

Helen Blake, lovingly referred to as 'Mama B', is celebrating her 25th year of doing costumes for the club. In honor of this, Sardinha and Cardoza sang "Do You Love the Drama Club?" to the music from Fiddler on the Roof's "Do You Love Me?" with Sardinha on piano. They presented Blake with a bouquet of flowers and tearful hugs, wishing her many more years of creating costumes for her beloved drama club.

To her kids, Mrs. Blake said fondly, "You don't realize the power you have for someone in the background who can't do what you do."

Sardinha also reminded everyone of next year's fall production of White Christmas. The show will include a very large orchestra and quite a bit of tap dancing. Also announced was the spring show, Anything Goes.

"It will be a huge production we are doing next year, so everyone better be ready to start working and have a ball," said Sardinha.

Get a ticket as soon as they are available because the shows sell out fast for this drama club, especially the musicals.

To the Editor:

The Mattapoisett Congregational Church joins our larger denomination, the United Church of Christ (www.macucc.org), in calling for the immediate cessation of the purposeful separation of children from their families at our border and reuniting them with their families. More than 2,300 children have been separated from their parents since the start of this program, including toddlers, babies, and young children.

Regardless of how one feels about immigration issues, we believe this practice is cruel, inhumane, and contrary to Judeo-Christian principals. "You shall not wrong or oppress an immigrant." Exodus 22:21 "Love does no wrong to a neighbor; therefore love is the fulfilling of the law." Romans 13:10

As the recent welcome modification of this policy goes into effect, we ask for people of good conscience and our elected representatives to assure this appalling practice never happens again. And we call for the prompt, transparent, and efficient return of these children to their families.

To encourage more discussion about these public issues, we invite our greater community to join the church community in a discussion/Bible study, "Reclaiming Faith: a Path to Moral Discourse in a Troubled Time", jointly sponsored by our Christian Education and Missions committees. The sessions will be 1 ½ hours on 3 Mondays: July 16, July 23, and August 6 from 7-8:30 pm at the church hall, 27 Church Street, Mattapoisett.

For questions, please call the church at 508-758-2671 or email Susan Grosart at ggrosart@aol.com.

The town's center, where the fair is set, is an attraction in itself. The public buildings donated to Fairhaven about one hundred years ago by Standard Oil Co. millionaire Henry H. Rogers are splendid examples of European-style architecture. Visitors can see an Italian style library, French gothic town hall, and the magnificent English Perpendicular Gothic style Unitarian Memorial Church, modeled after a 15th Century English cathedral. The buildings were all designed by noted New England architect Charles Brigham and are surrounded by unique herringbone pattern brick sidewalks. The Unitarian Memorial Church will be open for tours and will be holding a used book sale during the fair.

This year, there will be a shuttle van route between the Northeast Maritime Institute building at 32 Washington Street and Fairhaven High School, where there will be tours of the high school presented by the FHS Alumni Association. Also at the high school property, the Historical Society Museum will be open in the Academy Building and the new Huttleston Marketplace will be set up on the lawn. The shuttle service is being sponsored by the Office of Tourism with the cooperation of the Fairhaven Council on Aging.

To get to Fairhaven center from I-195, take Exit 18 to Route 240 South. At the first set of lights, Bridge Street, turn right. Proceed straight on Bridge Street through two sets of lights and two stop signs to Green Street, the third stop sign. Turn left on Green past Cushman Park into the town center. The fair takes place on Center Street. (For GPS, you can use the Unitarian Memorial Church, 102 Green Street, Fairhaven, MA, as an address.)

urns throughout Marion Village in an effort to beautify the village.

Building on that mission, Liz Hatch, newly elected Vice President, along with a dedicated group of volunteers is heading up a new initiative – beginning with beautification of the gateways to Marion.

"I was inspired by the efforts communities such as Tiverton RI, Osterville and Chatham MA have made to beautify the road islands and entrance areas and what a difference it made to their towns. I think the same effort here could be transformative for Marion," She says.

Plans are underway to install a new Marion sign on the corner of Route 6 and Front Street as well as plant (and care for) areas leading into Marion along Route 6 as well as areas along Route 105.

Although donations are already being received, the official fundraising for this effort will be kicked off on Thursday, July 26 with a fundraiser held at the Hatches beautiful seaside home in Marion. Wine and hors d'oeuvres will be served. Tickets are $40 (though additional donations will be gladly accepted).

Contact Liz Hatch at: liz.hatch1@gmail.com or 617-922-5575. Or purchase at the General Store. Checks should be made out to MGDG.

Marion Garden is a nonprofit 5013c organization. We gratefully accept donations toward our ongoing initiatives including village beautification, nursing home programs, local library outreach, school programs, pollinator habitat maintenance, and education.

homes and buildings. The survey was funded one-half by the Sippican Historical Society and one-half by the Massachusetts Historical Commission. Due to the limits of funding, not all of the historic buildings were surveyed, but over 100 were catalogued and photographed. The results of the survey are in digital form on the Massachusetts Historical Commission's website and in four binders in the Sippican Historical Society's office (and at the Marion Town Clerk's office).

Marion (Old Rochester) is one of the oldest towns in the United States, and the Sippican Historical Society maintains an extensive collection of documentation on its historic buildings. The Sippican Historical Society will preview one building a week so that the residents of Marion can understand more about its unique historical architecture.

This installment features 125 Allen's Point. Until as late as 1890, Allen's Point was a remote, undeveloped part of Marion. By the mid-19th century, Allen's Point was part of Henry D. and Stephen Allen's holdings. Their homes were located on the west side of Point Road, near its intersection with Cross Neck Road, but they no longer exist. The Allens were farmers. Henry D. Allen was one of Marion's first three selectmen in 1852-1854. At some point between 1855 and 1879, the Allens sold Allen's Point, the West Drive area, and other tracts south of Point Road to George Delano. The lovely summer estate of Edward M. Clark at 125 Allen's Point Road was designed by the Boston architectural firm of Coolidge and Carlson. It was built in the early 1900s. Among Coolidge's best-known works were Byerly and Randolph Halls (at Radcliffe and Harvard respectively), dormitories at Wellesley College, and the Bates College Library in Lewiston, Maine.

This home is of the finest example of Tudor Revival domestic architecture in Marion. Outbuildings include a stable, garden house, and boat house. Edward M. Clark commissioned the Boston landscape architect Arthur A. Shurcliff, a student of Frederick Law Olmsted, to design the south garden and the estate's grounds. His best-known landscape work was in Colonial Williamsburg. Clark sold the property to Richard Hoyt, whose daughter, Virginia Peirson, inherited the property from her parents.

Mayflower Camerata

The Mayflower Camerata is inviting additional singers in all voice parts for a pair of "historically informed" performances this November of Mozart's "Coronation" Mass and "Requiem" with chamber orchestra. Rehearsals will be held on Friday evenings beginning on July 20 at the Central Congregational Church, 3 Webster St., Middleboro, from 7:30 pm to 9:30 pm, in preparation for the concerts on Friday evening October 19 in Lakeville and on Sunday afternoon October 21 in Middleboro. The preferred vocal score edition for Mozart's "Coronation" Mass is the Otto Taubman edition published by Breitkopf, which is also available in a revised reprint published by G. Schirmer/Hal Leonard. The "Requiem" will use the new edition/completion by Robert Levin, published by Carus. The standard completion by Mozart's pupil Sussmayr is not usable for most of the second half of the Levin version. To order both vocal scores, contact the director by e-mail (see below) no later than July 5th. The total cost for the pair will be $20, payable at the first rehearsal. There will also be a "dues" of $40 per person to help provide for the rehearsal accompanist. The church is wheelchair accessible, with an elevator to reach the sanctuary from the side door entrance. This program is supported, in part, by grants from the Local Cultural Councils of Berkley, Bridgewater, Carver, Freetown, Lakeville, Middleboro, Plympton, Raynham, and Rochester, local agencies which are supported by the Massachusetts Cultural Council, a state agency. For further information, as well as to indicate an intention to participate and to order the music, contact the director, Fred Thornton, at 774-240-0934 (cell phone) or by e-mail at j.fred.thornton@comcast.net.

Buzzards Bay Coalition Golf Tournament

Golfers of all abilities have a unique opportunity to enjoy an afternoon of golf at a championship golf course, while also making a difference to clean up pollution in New Bedford Harbor at the Buzzards Bay Coalition's annual Golf Tournament on Friday, October 19 at the Bay Club at Mattapoisett.

All proceeds from the Golf Tournament go into a dedicated fund to support the cleanup of nitrogen pollution – Buzzards Bay's largest pollutant – in New Bedford Harbor. Bring your business associates and friends out to enjoy a day of good cheer on the golf course for a great cause!

For golfers, this event is a rare opportunity to enjoy the private Bay Club's parkland-style 7,000-yard course, designed by PGA Tour professional Brad Faxon in conjunction with golf course architect Brad Booth. With 88 percent of its 625 forested acres preserved, the Bay Club is the only Certified Silver Audubon Signature Sanctuary in Massachusetts.

Scott Zeien, owner of Kingman Yacht Center in Bourne, is returning to the Golf Tournament for the sixth time this year. "This is a wonderful opportunity to play a beautiful, private course of the highest caliber," he said. "When you add that all the players are united in purpose to help preserve our Bay, it adds a level of camaraderie and community to the event."

The tournament is a scramble format with practice at 10:00 am and a shotgun start at 12:00 pm. Registration is $250 for individuals or $1,000 for a foursome. Registration includes 18 holes of golf, greens fees, cart rental, tournament gift, boxed lunches, beer, and snacks on the course; and a lively after-party reception at the renowned Golf House Restaurant with cocktails, light fare, and awards and prizes, including an opportunity to putt for the chance to win $5,000.

Not a golfer? You can still enjoy the festivities and support for clean water by purchasing a $35 ticket to the cocktail party reception, which begins at 5:00 pm.

Register online to secure your spot in the Buzzards Bay Coalition Golf Tournament at www.savebuzzardsbay.org/golf or by contacting the Coalition at 508-999-6363 or events@savebuzzardsbay.org. Tournament and tee sponsorship opportunities are also available for companies who want to show their support for our local environment.

Animal Advice

Jay Gould, DVM

My dog itches almost consistently in the summer and fall and looses hair over his back near his tail. A friend said it could be caused by fleas, but I rarely find more than one flea at a time. Any thoughts?

Your friend may be right. Many dogs and cats are allergic to flea saliva. All of the changes in your dog's skin may be caused by 1 flea bite per week. Cats with flea allergy dermatitis tend to get small scabs over their body. Treatment involves strict flea control in your home as well as on your pet. Talk to your veterinarian about Advantage, Frontline and Seresto.

OBITUARIES

Beatrice W. Taber, 98, of Rochester died Monday, June 4, 2018 at Country Gardens Health & Rehabilitation, Swansea. Born in Acushnet, daughter of the late Carl E. and Edith E. (Carey) Taber. She lived many years in New Bedford before settling in Rochester in 1951. Miss Taber served in the United States Marine Corps during WWII, stationed in Arlington, VA. She was a charter member of the Women in Military Service for America (WIMSA) Memorial in Arlington National Cemetery, a charter member of the WWII Memorial Society in Washington, DC and a campaign member of the Marine Corps National Museum in Quantico, VA. She retired from NBG&EL Company (now Eversource) after 33 years of employment. She was a member of the Acushnet-Wesley United Methodist Church. She thanks the Rochester Senior Center Director and Staff for many helpful services and friendships.

She was sister of the late Evalyn Muggleton and Richard Taber.

In accordance with her wishes, all arrangements and burial at Acushnet Cemetery were private.

William J. Johnson, 68, of Mattapoisett died June 10, 2018 unexpectedly at home.

Born in New Bedford, the son of the late Owen L. and Lillian (Normandin) Johnson, he grew up in Fairhaven, but lived in Mattapoisett most of his life.

Although he spent time as a photographer in Detroit, the majority of his life was spent as a commercial fisherman. Working mostly as a dragger, he spent over 30 years sailing from New Bedford harbor. He loved being at sea from his days as a child on the waters off Sconticut Neck, his years serving the Navy during Vietnam, to being on any one of his own boats from Buzzards Bay to Key West. Sailing last on his cutter ketch "The Rights of Man," he truly loved being on the ocean. He loved having fun. He loved his friends, but mostly he loved his family. He was a truly unique man and will be terribly missed.

Survivors include his son Nils Johnson and his wife Jennifer Johnson, his step sons Mark Kroninger and his wife Erin Kroninger, Kurt Kroninger and his wife Wendy Kroninger. Five grandsons Kai Johnson, Jax Johnson, Wes Kroninger, Cole Kroninger, Kurt Kroninger Jr., granddaughter Katelyn Kroninger; and his companion Connie Root.

His Memorial Service will be held on Friday, June 29th at 4 pm at the Seamen's Bethel, 15 Johnny Cake Hill, New Bedford. A reception will immediately follow at Reservation golf course, 10 Reservation Road, Mattapoisett. Arrangements are with the Saunders-Dwyer Mattapoisett Home for Funerals, 50 County Rd., Route 6, Mattapoisett. For online guestbook, please visit www.saundersdwyer.com.

Timothy "Tim" Donohue, 64, died peacefully at his home in Sagamore Beach on Wednesday, June 20, 2018. Tim was born on July 4, 1953 in New Bedford to the late George Donohue and Catherine (Lowney) Donohue. He attended Holy Family High School in New Bedford and graduated from Bridgewater State University.

Empowering others, young and old, in optimizing their own health and well-being was Tim's primary impetus and passion in life. Tim was the founder and director of Yoga Kids Inc., through which he provided yoga, mindfulness and life-skills training to at-risk children for 18 years in New Bedford. His work was supported by the Marion Institute and several generous individual donors. He was intensely passionate about teaching coping skills to children and teens, with the goal that they feel empowered to make positive choices in their lives. Letters from his hundreds of appreciative students and teachers demonstrate the transformative impacts of his visits to classrooms in New Bedford Public School, Old Rochester Regional School District and Riverview School (Sandwich) classrooms. This was his life's work. Tim also worked for many years with seniors at Bristol Elder Services, empowering them with his straightforward, fun, and enthusiastic teaching of mindfulness and yoga. Another of his most fulfilling efforts was working with at-risk youth in New Bedford, guiding them to discover their own inner resources for coping.

Tim was deeply devoted to his entire family, especially his sister Meg, who has Cerebral Palsy, and with whom he completed the March for Babies fundraising walk to support the March of Dimes forty years in a row. In his personal life, Tim practiced what he preached meditating every morning to cultivate a sense of heartfelt gratitude. His love of wellness and fitness took off early on, when he had the opportunity to lead the tiny Holy Family High School to a win in the state basketball championship at Boston Garden in 1969. Tim was captain of that team as a sophomore. After hitting two jump shots at a critical juncture at the end of the game he was nicknamed the 'Cool Stab' at the time by the future hall of fame broadcaster Gil Santos who was doing the play by play at the Boston Garden for the championship game. Tim was famous among his friends and family for his fun-loving attitude, delicious cooking, love of the outdoors, infectious sense of humor, and wonderful shoulder massages.

Tim is survived by two adored and adoring children, Kelsey Donohue of Philadelphia, PA, and Daniel Donohue of Los Angeles, CA. He is also survived by his beloved partner, Vicki Summers, and three cherished sisters, Meg Donohue, Sharon Donohue, and Maureen Fischer and brothers- in-law

Numbers Game

By Rob Gonsalves

π (Pi). Starring Sean Gullette and Mark Margolis. Directed by Darren Aronofsky. Running time: 84 minutes. MPAA rating: R. On home video and streaming services.

Darren Aronofsky's feature debut π, which observes its 20th anniversary on July 10, follows in the tradition of other artsy first films like David Lynch's Eraserhead, Shinya Tsukamoto's Tetsuo the Iron Man, and E. Elias Merhige's Begotten. It's short — mercifully short, we might say, while acknowledging its ornery brilliance — visually harsh, shot in grainy, high-contrast black and white that eventually rubs sandpaper-like against the eye. And it is entirely devoted to its own vision, its own interiorized world. It's probably not coincidental that anguish and mutilation are on the menu in all four of these movies; you have to be a certain kind of viewer to want to watch them very frequently. Of the four, though, π seems the most interested in the world outside itself, even if only fleetingly and fearfully.

An exacting artist, Aronofsky has made only six films since this one — Requiem for a Dream (2000), The Fountain (2006), The Wrestler (2008), Black Swan (2010), Noah (2014), and mother! (2017). Many have been polarizing, and I was probably in the minority when I declared the frantic fable mother! the great American film of its year. Aronofsky's work does not always work for me — I found Requiem and Black Swan pompous and conceived in bad faith — but he consistently takes such chances, swings so hard for the fence, that I can absorb and even respect the two out of seven films that didn't land for me. π is a workout, no question, and not for everyone, but it has intellectual and spiritual fervor, and even when it stops dead for some mystical exposition, at least it assumes our intelligence (though also our patience).

The movie follows Max Cohen (Sean Gullette), a mathematical savant who thinks numbers are everything — are in everything, explain everything. He lives in a crappy, ant-infested apartment with a rickety computer he calls Euclid, which he uses to try to game the stock market. Instead, it spits out a 216-digit number, which Max disregards; then various folks ranging from Hasidic Jews to Wall Street agents descend on him. They all want what he knows; he doesn't even know what he knows.

This aspect of π is sort of a wry indie rewrite of the standard detective story, where the scruffy gumshoe is menaced by people wanting the MacGuffin or the dingus or whatever. Max is a gumshoe of number theory, and the MacGuffin is in his head. Then again, so are paranoia and migraines and, in the notorious but abbreviated climax, a drill bit.

The soul of π, though, isn't in its thriller tropes (there's a hectically-staged chase scene that's as boring as any other chase scene) but in the scenes with Max and his old friend Sol (Mark Margolis), a math warhorse who got a little too close to the flame of numerical truth and had a debilitating stroke. Margolis is 78 now and has always looked 78, even 20 years ago in this film, and we believe him as an exhausted old man who has forsaken math obsession; we also appreciate seeing him as something other than a cold-blooded mobster. The two men sit and talk quietly in Sol's equally rumpled apartment while they play Go or Sol feeds his fish. It's top-drawer stuff, and proved that Aronofsky wasn't just some hip hotshot but an artist engaged with his characters' emotional readings. (Margolis went on to appear in almost every Aronofsky film since, like a lucky charm, except for mother!)

Max is surrounded by people, benevolent or very much otherwise, who want something from him; aside from Sol, the only person he has time for is a little Chinese girl who loves to throw calculations at him. She reminds him, I guess, of a time when his particular strange acumen might have been fun. Enjoyment, relaxation, a rare computer chip — people keep offering Max things to pull him away from his own obsessions, his own head. But he can't, and won't, be distracted. He is the damaged loner as outlaw artist, a theme Aronofsky has returned to again and again, or has at any rate lived in his own life. Coming back to π after his subsequent pieces puts them all into perspective — even the hornéd beast mother!, which I would gladly recommend on a double bill with π if it wouldn't make you come after me with a drill.

mile routes as well as a 100-mile "century ride" that circles the entirety of Buzzards Bay starting from the dramatic breakwater at Sakonnet Point, RI. All three routes join together for lunch and to end with a lively finish line party in the heart of Woods Hole Village featuring dinner, beer and wine, live music, awards, and free massages.

Whether you're an avid cyclist or a more casual rider, you'll enjoy the Ride's gorgeous scenery through coastal villages, farmland, working waterfront, and colorful cranberry bogs. Many cyclists form teams with their friends, family, and coworkers, sporting flashy uniforms and colorful names like "Sail Bags," "Team Girl Power," and "Shining Sea Riders." Local schools, groups and businesses form teams for camaraderie and visibility, including the "Falmouth Academy Pedalers," "Team South Coast Bikeway," and "Sylvia Group Spinners."

South Coast Almanac publisher and Onset resident Marlissa Briggett will return to the Ride with her team for the third time this year. "What a day. I'm still enjoying some post-Ride joy at the wonderful ride and party. Every single rider on our team said they'd do it again next year."

Cyclists ages 12 and over are welcome. Riders are fully supported along the course with water and snack stations, clear route markings, a hearty food truck lunch at Eastover Farm in Rochester, and on-the-road bike repair technicians. Prizes go to the riders and teams that raise the most money as well as the winners in categories including "Best Team Outfit" and "Most Riders."

Each cyclist raises a minimum of $300, but many participants set loftier fundraising goals. All funds go directly to the Coalition's work to protect land and clean water around Buzzards Bay. Last year, cyclists and their supporters raised more than $155,000 to support the Coalition.

Cyclists can register now for the Ride to confirm their commitment to clean water and get a head-start on their summer training schedule. To learn more about the Buzzards Bay Watershed Ride and sign up, visit www.savebuzzardsbay.org/ride.

Associate Members Needed

Are you interested in protecting wetlands in Rochester? Have you thought about serving on a board and learning more about what's going on in town? The Rochester Conservation Commission is looking for volunteers interested in serving as Associate Members to the Conservation Commission. Associates are non-voting members who help share the workload of the voting Conservation Commission that was officially appointed by the Board of Selectmen. Associate members provide a pool of future members and allow more people to participate. Most of the full voting members of the Commission served as Associate Members prior to being appointed by the Board of Selectmen.

The Conservation Commission was established in Rochester in 1963 and is charged with protecting Rochester's natural resources. The Conservation Commission also advises other municipal officials and boards on conservation issues that relate to their areas of responsibility. In 1972, the Commission was given the responsibility of administering the Wetlands Protection Act (MGL Ch. 131 40). The Conservation Commission serves the community in a regulatory as well as a conservation capacity.

Please feel free to contact Conservation Agent Laurell J. Farinon at 508-763-5421 ext. 206 or lfarinon@townofrochester.com with any questions about becoming an Associate Member, or send a letter of interest to the Rochester Conservation Commission, Rochester Town Hall Annex, 37 Marion Road, Rochester, MA 02770.

Buzzards Bay Area Habitat for Humanity

Buzzards Bay Area Habitat for Humanity has recently joined hands with those in the community to form a group of builders, subcontractors, and donors, all volunteering their time, skills, and resources to help a local mother. After the birth of her second child, the mother contracted an aggressive infection that ultimately led to bilateral below-the-knee amputations along with other serious complications. After months of rehabilitation, this mother remains determined to continue with therapy to improve her mobility in hopes of one day being able to keep up with her two young and active children. Habitat for Humanity has stepped in to help renovate the family's home and will be providing a large accessible bathroom for the mother.

Habitat's "Brush With Kindness" program allows Habitat to serve local families who are in need of repairs such as weatherization (interior storm windows), painting, fixing up an existing porch, adding a ramp, repairing a roof, or making a home accessible again. For families in need of critical home repairs, Habitat's Brush With Kindness program may be the solution. To sponsor or nominate a family, please call the Habitat office at 508-758-4517.

Habitat for Humanity homes and Brush With Kindness projects are fully supported by donations.

SALOME'S STARS

ARIES (March 21 to April 19) Count to 10 if you must, but don't lose your temper, despite that person's (you know who!) efforts to goad you into reacting. Your restraint will pay off in a big way.

TAURUS (April 20 to May 20) This week finds you in a sociable mood, ready and eager to enjoy the company of family and friends. It's also a good time to seek out and renew old friendships.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 20) Patience is called for as you await a decision about that project you're eager to launch. Meanwhile, try to set aside more time to share with that special person in your life.

CANCER (June 21 to July 22) Avoid becoming involved in a workplace dispute early in the week by insisting both sides submit their stands to a neutral arbitrator. Things begin to cool off by Thursday.

LEO (July 23 to August 22) It promises to be a busy but productive week for the Big Cat. The pace slows by Friday, allowing you to catch up on matters you put aside but that now need your attention.

VIRGO (August 23 to September 22) A suddenly disruptive family situation is best handled with a cool, calm and collected response. Wait until things settle to let off all that pent-up emotional steam.

LIBRA (September 23 to October 22) Your practical side dominates the week as you reassess your finances to make some sensible adjustments in what you plan to spend and what you expect to save.

SCORPIO (October 23 to November 21) An unexpected meeting with a former colleague opens some interesting possibilities. But you need to press for full disclosure before making a decision.

SAGITTARIUS (November 22 to December 21) A recent flurry of activity eases by midweek, giving you time to readjust your disrupted schedule and make new plans for a weekend getaway.

CAPRICORN (December 22 to January 19) You're usually the one who gives advice. But now it's time to open yourself up to counsel from friends who have your best interests at heart.

AQUARIUS (January 20 to February 18) You might find resistance to your call for a full inquiry into a workplace problem. But by week's end even the most rigid naysayers begin to come around.

PISCES (February 19 to March 20) A recurring problem surfaces once again. Maybe it's time you used your creative talents to help you find a new approach to resolving it once and for all.

BORN THIS WEEK: You are guided in what you do both by your intelligence and your emotions. An acting career would suit you quite well.

rental opportunities at the Hall as well.

This historic masterpiece was the gift of Elizabeth Sprague Pitcher Taber whose vision was that Marion and surrounding communities have a hall for lectures, concerts, and performances. It was constructed in 1891 for $23,000. Through the years, it has been a favored venue for town committee meetings and parties, for concerts and musicals, and for private events including weddings and parties. Mrs. Taber also had the vision to build the Town Library and Natural History Museum, the Stone Chapel at the Congregational Church, and Tabor Academy, originally founded to educate girls and boys of Marion.

The Music Hall is available free of charge to all Town of Marion committees and organizations such as the Elizabeth Taber Library, the Council on Aging, and the Police and Fire Departments. In honoring Elizabeth Taber's wishes, it remains accessible to all Marion citizens according to the new fee schedule, which helps defray the costs to taxpayers while covering maintenance and utility expenses. While the rate structure has changed, the rates remain among the most competitive in Marion and surrounding towns. Local couples will be hard pressed to find such a great wedding venue on a weekend for as low as $600. (Bookings made before September 1, 2017 will honor the original rental fees.)

For inquiries and further information, please

Congratulations Ryley!

Mattapoisett Enhanced Online Bill Pay Service

Mattapoisett residents and taxpayers are now able to pay their Real Estate, Personal Property, Motor Vehicle and Boat Excise taxes, and Water/Sewer bills with greater flexibility. The new system is secure, easy to use, and allows customers the option of paying their bills via their checking account with ACH or by using a credit/debit card. Customers are able to view their bills and make a one-time payment without registering, or, by registering, they can enjoy 24/7 access to payment history and bills. By registering, customers will also be able to pay anytime, anywhere with a mobile optimized experience, either online, on their mobile device, or by text message. Other enhanced features include the ability to schedule a payment, either for the same day or a future date, or to establish an automatic payment schedule.

Paying electronically is faster and more convenient than paying with personal online banking. Paying with personal online banking results in an actual bank check mailed to the Town. Many times incorrect or missing information causes delays in payment posting. EFT/ACH payments are received and cleared faster than checks issued by banks. The Collector's Office uploads electronic payment files, therefore, improving the accuracy and timeliness of payment posting for customers. In addition to receiving email reminders when a payment is due and a confirmation email after making a payment, customers can sign up for courtesy email reminders.

Advantages of e-Billing and Payment:

- Paying online is faster than mailing a check
- Bills and payment history are kept securely in one place
- No worries about a bill or check getting lost in the mail
- Paying online saves stamps, envelopes, and gas
- Pay your bill from wherever you have Internet access
- Late fees can be avoided with scheduled or automatic

Church Ride Program

Do you miss going to church on Sunday because you are unable to get there? Do you want to go to church, but don't want to go alone? The First Congregational Church of Marion has a church ride program for its Sunday service.

A group of volunteers would like to pick you up on Sunday for the church service and take you home afterwards. The worship service begins at 10:00 am and a fellowship time follows the service. The church has an elevator and is handicap accessible.

All you need to do is call the church office at 508-748-1053 by noon on Friday to arrange for a ride on Sunday. Also, let the office know whether you have any mobility aids such as a walker or wheelchair so that the appropriate vehicle can transport you. We have a team of six drivers who would love to bring you to church. More drivers will be arranged if needed.

We will gladly arrange for this transportation for one week or for every week. Please do not hesitate to call the church office to ask for transportation. Our drivers are happy to transport you.

We look forward to seeing you in church.
